Show Reels: Megan On Air Youtube

Megan Annear attended NZ Broadcasting school at the age of 20 majoring in on-air and creative. On graduation she promptly landed the only on-air internship available at the breakfast co-host of Classic Hits in Queenstown. After living down south for 2 years she managed to beat the odds and secure the job as day's announcer on The Edge.

In late 2017 Megan was shoulder tapped to replace veteran radio broadcaster JayJay Feeney on The Edge breakfast show, alongside Dom Harvey and Clint Randall - a testament to Megan's exceptional talent and passion as this is one of the most coveted roles in radio broadcasting.

As a self-described plus sized fashion loving woman Megan is passionate about helping other women to find clothes in a dire plus size market and ultimately gain more confidence in themselves. Her videos clearly struck a chord with viewers and after launching her YouTube channel back in March 2016 she was named by MTV as a must follow fashion vlogger with her channel fast closing in on nearly a million views. Not bad for a channel that's only 7 months old! When she's not working on-air, shopping or vlogging she can be found hanging with her partner fellow broadcaster Guy and their rescue cat Plum.
