Broadcaster Megan Papas (née Sellers) makes up one third of the hilarious ZM Breakfast show, Fletch Vaughan and Megan.

A self-proclaimed professional talker, she is a very experienced voice artist having worked in radio for over 12 years.

Megan says a highlight of her job is interviewing big name celebrities from around the world, including Ariana Grande, Justin Bieber, Ed Sheeran, Selena Gomez and Khloe Kardashian to name a few.

Travel has been a big perk for Megan too, enjoying zooming round various locations both in NZ and abroad. Recently she was flown to LA to sit down with the stars of 50 Shades of Grey - all in a days' work!

The seriously multi-talented broadcaster has even more strings to her bow. As well as her high-profile role as on-air talent, Megan spent four years in technical production, recording and producing award-winning commercials. She was also a fashion stylist for X Factor NZ and the band Titanium for three years, has tried her hand as a fashion blogger for NZ Girl - all while being at the forefront of social influence in NZ.

Her social media pages have created a space for Megan to share her favourite beauty products, must-haves, and her take on the latest fashion and style trends.

Her strong eye for design and style supports her presence - where she consistently posts high quality and engaging content. Her images have a fun, high fashion feel, and she continues to receive strong results from her audience.
