Jay Reeve is notorious for his cheeky grin and wicked sense of humour. Arguably one of NZ's most popular and irreverent multi-media broadcasters, Jay is also a prolific MC and accidental influencer.

Jay hosted the country's number one drive show on ZM with Flynny until early 2015, when he made the shift to Radio Hauraki Breakfast. Now he holds the coveted hosting slot on The Rock Drive, with good friend Duncan Heyde.

Originally a teacher from Tauranga Boys' College, he cut his teeth MCing live events at Mount Maunganui, including commentating the Hyundai Pro Longboard Tour - in which he was also competing as a professional surfer.

Seriously good on the waves, Jay consistently placed inside the top 10 during his surfing career, taking out fourth place at the 2010 National Surfing Championships. From there, finding himself in hot demand, his media career progressed effortlessly.

From 2009 - 2011, Jay caused havoc all across the globe as a video journalist (VJ) for MTV. He ran amok in countries such as Germany, England, Tahiti, Australia - and of course every square centimeter of God's own - filing some epic stories from the coolest places on earth.

MTV closed the New Zealand branch of its operation in late 2011, but Jay has remained a part of the MTV family, and hosted the MTV Classic in Sydney, Australia.

Simultaneously Jay's TV & radio career took off, having worked across ZM, Radio Hauraki and The Rock. He's also hosted many live events, including the notorious Shiny Side Up motorbiking event for the last several years.

Jay found himself an accidental influencer, amassing a sizable and engaged audience as a bi-product of his media career. He creates candid content, and is in hot demand as an ambassador to some of the world's leading brands.

Based in Auckland, Jay is married to model Anna Reeve (Fitzpatrick), he has adorable twin boys dubbed "The Reeve Nuggets."

When asked to describe himself he says; "I'm the kind of guy you would invite to your wedding after meeting me once, and then

wouldn't be surprised if I ran through the reception nude."

Jay is enthusiastic about parenting, photography, and motorbikes - as an extremely proud ambassador for Harley Davidson NZ.

TESTIMONIALS

Jay and Duncan were MCs for our Shiny Side Up Bike Fests, a series of events around the country promoting motorcycle safety. As riders they both brought knowledge and passion to the table, as well as their unique brand of humour. We were impressed how Jay and Duncan kept things rolling along seamlessly and created a sense of fun throughout the day. They worked exceptionally well as a team whether they were promoting things individually or together in the demo area. If you're after heaps of energy and amusement, this duo is hard to beat!
